J. LANIER YEATES graduated from LSU Law School in 1981, where he served as an Associate Editor of the Louisiana Law Review. He has taught Louisiana Oil and Gas Law at the The University of Houston Law Center as a member of the Adjunct Faculty and has been a member of the State

Bar of Texas since 1982. Lanny’s practice in the area of oil and gas has been diverse, but mostly he has represented oil and gas producers, as well as financial institutions that provide capital to the energy industry. Over the years Lanny has also been involved in many organizations such as the Louisiana Mineral Law Institute, serving as Chairman several times, and the Energy Policy Committee and the Oil & Natural Gas Exploration Committee of the American Bar Association. He also served on a committee that developed the deepwater offshore operating agreement that was adopted by the American Association of Petroleum Landmen (AAPL) as the model form agreement.

KEITH B. HALL practices law as a member of Stone Pigman Walther Wittmann L.L.C. in New Orleans, Louisiana. His primary areas of practice are oil and gas law, environmental law, and toxic tort litigation. He serves as Chair of the New Orleans Bar Association’s Oil and Gas Section, as a member of the Louisiana Mineral Law Institute’s Advisory Council, and as a member of the Advisory Council for the Louisiana State Bar Association’s Environmental Law Section. Mr. Hall teaches at Loyola University School of Law in New Orleans, and authors “Recent Developments in Mineral Law” for the bimonthly Louisiana Bar Journal. He also serves as Chair of the New Orleans Bar Association’s annual “Litigation Lessons for Lawyers” CLE series.

ABOUT THE DISTINGUISHED LEADERS SERIES — Sponsored by AGL Resources, the Distinguished Leaders Series was launched in 2002 with Charles T. “Ted” Bauer, founder and retired chairman of AIM Management Group. The series serves as a forum to connect students with professionals, most recently with those who are in leadership positions in the energy industry.
