ROOTED

in BUSINESS

In Texas, family means everything.

And at the C. T. Bauer College of Business at the University of Houston, our students, alumni, faculty, staff and partners are part of a family that values innovative ideas coupled with hard work. Here, we teach students not only how to dream big, but also how to put their ideas into action to create impactful businesses.

Surpreet Singh is pursuing his MBA at Bauer, and he knows all about the importance of family. He works alongside his father and sister at Thind Hotels, a development company based in The Woodlands. There, he is vice president of development and has helped to launch new hotels in The Woodlands, Spring and Conroe.

Through the Bauer MBA program, Singh is learning how to grow his family's business while gaining a network of business professionals and mentors across Houston.

The University of Houston is an EEO/AA institution.
